WELL DESERVED.

The Praise that Comes From Thankful Cloverport People.

One Kidney remedy never fails. Cloverport people rely upon it. That remedy is Doan's Kidney Pills. Cloverport testimony proves it always reliable.

J. C. Weatherholt, High St., Cloverport, Ky., says: "Two years ago I did not think it possible that I could ever be well again, in fact, I had settled up my affairs. I cannot describe the misery I endured from pains through my back and whenever I stooped, they became so sharp that it really felt as if someone were thrusting a knife into my kidneys. I was often very dizzy, dark spots floated before my eyes and I had to knock something to keep from falling. My joints became swollen to twice their natural size and I lost weight rapidly until I was a skeleton. The doctors' medicines or the many guaranteed cures that I tried, did not help me and finally it was my good fortune to hear about Doan's Kidney Pills. I immediately procured a box at Fisher's drug store and I was greatly surprised at the results received. Before I had taken the contents of the second box, there was a marked improvement and I continued using them until completely cured. I am now as well as any man in this county and I give Doan's Kidney Pills the credit."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

KILLED BY DOGS

Twenty-two Fine Angora Goats Meet Death on Oglesby's Farm Near Town Friday

WAS A BIG LOSS TO OWNER

Friday a herd of goats were run down by several vicious dogs on the farm of Mr. Ed. Oglesby. Twenty-two goats were killed and others injured. The loss was exceedingly great for the goats were quite valuable to have on the farm for the purpose of cleaning underbrush. In several states farmers keep a herd of goats to clean their fields and it is found they do a good job at moderate cost. However, the animals have been a big loss to Mr. Oglesby. He thought the goats would fight and protect themselves, but he learned differently Friday.

HARDINSBURG

The Rev. English Delivered His Farewell Sermon To a Large Audience at the County Capital Sunday Night.

MUCH ILLNESS IN THE TOWN

Miss Beulah Rowland, an appointee to the Western State Normal, left for Bowling Green Monday.

Rev. E. B. English preached his farewell sermon to a crowded house Sunday night. No other services were held in town, thus giving to all church goers an opportunity to hear from one respected and loved by all the last sermon after a four years' pastorate in our city. Rev. and Mrs. English do not move to Owensboro until the last of March, though his work begins there the second Sunday.

Dr. McMullin has bought of Roy E. Moorman the brick corner now occupied as a store house by H. J. Roberts. Consideration $6000. Dr. McMullin will make some improvements and alterations, but does not yet give out to what use the building will be put. It is one of the most desirable locations in town.

Miss Verbal McMullin left Monday for Henderson after closing her work Friday in the Public School. She is a successful teacher, a hard worker and is thoroughly acquainted with the work of a graded school. Her departure from Hardinsburg is attended by much regret.

After a trial of a week's duration in which the testimony in the J. H. Glasscock suit vs. the Louisville Tobacco Warehouse Company was all given, Judge Chief became too ill to remain in court. As he was unable to give instructions to the jury, court was adjourned at noon Friday without anything being effected in the trial. It will be gone over again at the May term.

Charley Durham returned Sunday from a visit of several days to friends in Tell City.

Tom Moore spent Sunday in Louisville.

Mrs. J. E. Wright, of Louisville, is here visiting her father, Judge N. Mc. Mercer.

Mrs. Maggie Baker, of Centertown, stopped over here Saturday on her way to Louisville and spent the day with Miss Lela McGary.

Mrs. Morris Board is in Louisville. Mrs. Miller, grandfather at the war-house here finished his work last week, and returned to his home after about sixty days of most satisfactory work.

The colored school closed last week with a creditable attendance on Saturday night. Both the teachers leave this week for the State Colored School at Frankfort, where they will remain several months.

Judge Board and Hon. G. W. Beard, two of our oldest citizens, are unable to be out, being, it is thought, only temporarily indisposed.

FARMERS' INSTITUTE.

More Politics Than Farm Talk At Elizabethtown Meeting. A Political Wrangle.

FARMERS LEAVE DISGUSTED.

[From Evening Post.] Elizabethtown, Ky., Feb. 28.—At yesterday's session of the Kentucky Farmer's Institute H. M. Beard, of Breckinridge County, was chosen a member of the State Board of Agriculture from the Second Appellate district to succeed W. R. Moorman. The election of Mr. Beard, however, was not accomplished without a long wrangle, the Democrats contending that the delegates to the Second District Convention, which met earlier in the day, were not legally elected and the Republicans claiming the contrary.

There was also some trouble in the Seventh Appellate District Convention, where Frank Blackburn, Republican, of Powell county, was elected to succeed J. C. Mayo.

These fights, which started in the district conventions, were carried to the floor of the big meeting, and when Lucien Becker presented the report of the Committee on Credentials, he was immediately challenged by Secretary Newman, of the State Fair Board, who claimed that none of the delegates to the institute of delegates had been properly elected. A long squabble followed and Roy Wilhoit, C. M. Barnett and Commissioner Rankin attacked the stand of former Senator Newman.

The charge was then made that letters had been sent out from the office of the Commissioner of Agriculture, urging the attendance of delegates to vote against Moorman, but the Commissioner replied that if such a thing had been done he knew nothing about it.

After long debate, however, the report of the Committee on Credentials was adopted, the Democrats refusing to vote.

Last night the members of the State Board of Agriculture met and re-elected J. W. Newman, Secretary of the State Fair by acclamation.

The following officers were elected by the institute: C. M. Barnett, vice president, and P. M. Sly, secretary. Later, at the night session, addresses on important topics were made by Cicero Barnett, Ben L. Bruner and Roy Wilhoit, secretary of the Railroad Commission.

Many of the farmers left during the political squabble yesterday, declaring they were disgusted with the action of some of the delegates, and saying that the affairs of the farmers had not received nearly so much attention as the matter of politics. The majority of them blame the Democrats for attempting to introduce the political matters in the meeting.

IN MEMORIAM.

In last week's issue of the News, a reference was made to the funeral service of Mrs. Elizabeth Wilkerson, in this city, detailed facts not being then obtainable. Elizabeth Fisher Wilkerson, widow of the late Judge John S. Wilkerson, an youngest daughter of John and Agnes Fisher, was born July 4th, 1827, at the old Fisher homestead near this city, and fell asleep in Jesus, Friday, February 12th, 1909, at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. David Standiford, in Brooklyn, N. Y. Born on an anniversary of our national independence day, and passing away on the 100th anniversary of the birth of the immortal Lincoln, her life thus was a richly identified with the patriotism of the nation.

About seventy-five years of her life was spent in Cloverport. In her young womanhood two years was spent in Louisville while the last five years of her splendid life were spent in Brooklyn, surrounded by all her children, save one. Sixty-five years ago Mrs. Wilkerson united with the Cloverport Baptist church, where her membership remained until her death.

REVIVAL SERVICES.

The Rev. Jenkins, State Evangelist Assisting Rev. Lewis in The Baptist Revival in Progress Here.

EVERYBODY INVITED TO ATTEND.

Sunday the Rev. James Lewis had the pleasure of introducing to his congregation the Rev. J. P. Jenkins, who will assist him in the Baptist revival. Rev. Jenkins is one of the State Evangelists, and has won the confidence of all those who have heard his discourses. His sermons are sincere and his address is engaging.

Services are held daily at 2.30 p. m. and every evening at 7.30. Sunday afternoon Rev. Jenkins will deliver an address (not a sermon) to men and boys only. His theme for this occasion is "Influence." He will appreciate a large attendance of the men of this city and surrounding community.

Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Touney have thrown open the doors of their hospitable home to Rev. Jenkins and he will be entertained there until the close of the revival.

A kind neighbor and a devotedly, loving mother, she lived to see all of her children useful and prosperous citizens and then peacefully lay down her armor and entered into sweet rest, fully resigned to the will of the great "Father," her last admission to her children being to "love one another."

Funeral services were held at her apartment home in Brooklyn Sunday, Feb. 14th, conducted by the Rev. Walter S. Rounds, of the Third Christian church, who spoke feelingly of the beautiful motherhood of the deceased, as well as of her confident hope in the Christian life. Two beautiful duets were sweetly rendered by Mrs. Weeks and Mr. Bowes of St. Marks Methodist Episcopal church, after which the remains, accompanied by two sons and two daughters, were taken over the Pennsylvania R. R. to Cloverport, via Louisville, where they were met by another son, daughter and granddaughter.

In last week's issue of the News, full mention was made of the beautiful and touching services in the Cloverport Baptist church and at the grave, conducted by the Rev. Jas. Lewis and the church choir.

The body was laid to rest beside that of her late husband, in the Cloverport Cemetery.

Mrs. Wilkerson leaves three sons, Lewis Linn, Forrest Fisher, and John Cannon Wilkerson, of New York, and three daughters, Mrs. Chas. G. Warfield of Meridian, Miss, Mrs. Etta Evar, and Mrs. David Standiford, of New York, also five grand-children.

The family wish to express through the News their grateful and heartfelt thanks to the many friends and relatives in Cloverport and vicinity for their great sympathy and loving service so beautifully and touchingly rendered.

Don't Be Misled.

The retail druggists of this county, as a class, are noted for their high standard of intelligence and honorable dealing, but it is a well known fact that occasionally you will find one who will try to sell you something else when you need a remedy of established reputation. He forgets that your health is more important than his pocket-book.

For example, when you ask for Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great Kidney, Liver and Bladder Remedy, don't let any druggist, drug clerk or storekeeper persuade you into buying something else in its place. Every time he succeeds in selling you a worthless substitute he makes more profit, but you are humbugged at the expense of your health.

For many years we have watched with much interest the remarkable record maintained by Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root. From the very beginning, the proprietors had so much confidence in it that they invited every one to send for a free sample bottle so that people could judge of its great curative value in even the most distressing cases of kidney, liver and bladder troubles.

On another page of this paper you will find a few of the letters, prompted by feelings of heartfelt gratitude, that are constantly coming to Dr. Kilmer & Company. No one can doubt such sincere and honest testimony.

Swamp-Root is prepared only by Dr. Kilmer & Co., Laboratories, Binghamton, N. Y.—Don't experiment.—If you need a medicine you should have the best.

EIGHT PAGES.

CLOVERPORT, KY., WEDNESDAY, MARCH 3, 1909

The proceedings of the Farmers Institute at Elizabethtown last week were completely disappointing and thoroughly disgusting. The idea of an independent class of men like farmers permitting politics to take possession of their affairs! It's deplorable. What the outcome will be is not known, but the meeting which should have been a stimulant to agricultural pursuits, was paralyzed by politics. Of all institutions, we thought would ever turn a deaf ear to political dictations, the Farmers Institute headed our list. Be they Democrats or Republicans or both, they had better stay at home next time and read the farmers almanac.

Tomorrow when Mr. Taft takes the oath of office as president of the United States, many spectators will cast one long, interesting glance at Theodore Roosevelt as he leaves the Executive Chair. President Roosevelt is a wonderful man and has held the close attention of the whole world for seven years. It is too early for History to judge him and the influence of his administration cannot yet be weighed, but assuredly his political independence is being felt throughout America. He will live in the hearts of all true Americans.

The independent voters have things going their way in this county. The party lash and the party boss have lost their power. They are afraid to make a move. No man dares to stick his head up for office who is not a square man, a sober man, a trustful, law-abiding, law respecting man. No matter under whose banner he sails he's got to be the right kind to win.

In last week's editorial mention of the Colonial Tea given by the Ladies Aid of the Baptist church, at Irvington, we said Methodist. That was a dreadful mistake and we are frankly sorry. If the Baptist will pardon us this time we promise to remember them when the Methodists give an entertainment as delightful as the Colonial Tea.

About the best thing Gov. Wilson has done during his administration is the issuing of a pardon to the Louisville Herald, which was convicted of libeling a judge and commonwealths attorney who failed to do their duty in some night rider cases.

There are two Democrats in Mr. Taft's cabinet. They are not regular, of course, and not of the Bryan stripe, but are Democrats just the same.

People are getting tired of the political trickster. What they want is fair play and a square deal in everything, even in Farmers Institutes.

Cloverport has the distinction of having a son among the 14,000 circum-navigators just graduated by Uncle Sam.

Mr. Taft may have "played 'possum'" down in Georgia but he will never play it in the White House.

Congress may not like President Roosevelt but the people do.

VERY FINE.

This Simple Home-Made Treatment Will Overcome Rheumatism.

Few people here know that you can cure that great American disease, Rheumatism, with just common, everyday drugs found in any drug store. The prescription is so simple that any one can prepare it at home at small cost. It is made up as follows: Get from any good prescription pharmacy, Fluid Extract Dandelion, one half ounce; Compound Serrapapillaria, three ounces. Mix by shaking in a bottle and take in teaspoonful doses after each meal and at bedtime. These are all very simple ingredients, making an absolutely harmless home remedy at little cost.

Rheumatism, as every one knows, is a symptom of deranged kidneys. It is a condition produced by the failure of the kidneys to properly filter or strain from the blood the uric acid and other matter, which, if not eradicated, either in the urine or through the skin pores, remains in the blood, decomposes and forms about the joints and muscles, causing the untold suffering and deformity of rheumatism.

This prescription is said to be a splendid healing, cleansing and invigorating tonic to the kidneys, and gives almost immediate relief in all forms of bladder and urinary troubles and backache.

COURT MINUTES

At a called term of the Breckenridge County Fiscal Court, held at the Court House in Hardinsburg, Ky., on February 20, 1909.

Present, Hon. H. DeH. Moorman, presiding judge of the Breckenridge County Court, and the following named Justices of the Peace: Jno. O. Relliey, Thos. M. Bates, C. H. Drury and H. G. Vessels.

Came the Committee heretofore appointed to examine the bridge over Clover Creek at Cloverport, and filed the following report, which is now ordered recorded, and is as follows: To the Honorable Fiscal Court of Breckenridge County, State of Kentucky:

We the undersigned committee having been appointed by the Fiscal Court of this Breckenridge County, at its regular October term, 1908, to investigate and make report as to the condition of the bridge over Clover Creek in the said city of Cloverport and county of Breckenridge, as to the requirements and the things necessary to be done to said bridge in the way of repairs so as to make safe and useful for all necessary public travel over same, beg leave to report that we have investigated the condition of said bridge and that we find that the sleepers or girders are in a rotten condition and are in such a condition as to make travel of heavy loads over same unsafe, and that it is absolutely necessary that the repairs thereto be made at once if possible, as said bridge is already condemned by Breckenridge county and the city of Cloverport.

After having fully investigated this matter, and having taken into consideration the great cost to keep this bridge in repair by reason of the girders rotting therein every few years, we have come to the conclusion that it will be a great saving to Breckenridge county and the city of Cloverport, to have steel girders or sills placed therein. While the cost to have this done may seem a little enormous to the critics, we know that in a few years it will amount to a saving to the said city and county.

In view of this matter from a standpoint of economy to said city and county we recommend that steel girders or sills or whatever you may wish to call them, be put in and installed in said bridge, and by so doing this county and city of Cloverport will hereafter be released from expending large sums of money on this bridge every two or three years.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

Gus Brown, County Atty.
J. V. St. Clair, K. S. B. C.
Thos. M. Bates, J. P. B. C.

Evidence being heard and the court being otherwise advised, and the report of the committee having been duly considered, the same is now adopted. It appearing that there is urgent demand and conclusive reason for prompt action concerning this bridge, the Bridge Commissioner of Breckenridge County is hereby ordered, directed and empowered to forthwith take such steps as his discretion may dictate to put said bridge over Clover Creek, in the city of Clover-

As to whether he shall use steel or wooden stringers he will inform himself thoroughly and consider the matter from the standpoint of economy and procure the opinion of an expert as to the present condition of said bridge and as to the advisability of using steel stringers, and when said Commissioner is satisfied on the various points of safety and economy, his discretion shall govern his acts.

When he is satisfied on the points suggested, he is empowered to contract for such repairs as are needed and cause said bridge to be promptly put in condition as aforesaid, and this court suggests that J. There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. # Inauguration of the Twenty-seventh President

It Will Be a More Imposing and Costly Function Than Any of Its Predecessors

FROM present indications it is apparent that there will be no falling off in the inaugural celebration this year. Although he never led a charge of much riders and has no actual right to sing "Cheer Up, Comrades," Mr. Taft will be honored by an attendance at the inaugural ceremonies of as great a military force as that which marched in parade behind President Roosevelt. In keeping with the essentially peaceful and civic character of the incoming president, the industrial and civilian features of the parade of next March 4 will be far more extensive and imposing than ever before.

The program of the inaugural period is divided into five important features, and some others of a lesser degree of interest—first, the imposing military division of the parade, which has been arranged on a big scale by Major General J. Franklin Bell, who is grand marshal; second, the civic organization division of the parade, which will be headed by Thomas P. Morgan, chairman of the

The joint committee of the two houses of congress purposes to make the ceremonies attending the actual inauguration of President Taft and Vice President Sherman as solemn and dignified as befits so important an event. Joy and merriment and the spirit of festivity will mark the inaugural parade, and the scenes along the streets will be as brilliant as ever, but in the capital and on the inaugural stand erected on its east front solemnity and dignity will dominate. The details are already perfected, and every official and every employee understands the part he is to play.

The senate will complete the work of the last session of the Sixtieth congress about 10:30 a. m. on March 4 and will then take a recess so that the ceremony may be set for the important act in the great drama of the republic as soon as to take place. Shortly before noon the vice president will call the senate to order. The secretary of the senate will announce the arrival of the speaker and the house of representa-and remain standing until the person announced is seated.

Mr. Fairbanks' Valedictory.

When all the dignitaries have arrived the vice president will deliver his valedictory and will then call to the rostrum James S. Sherman, to whom he will administer the oath of the vice president of the United States, after which he will declare the senate adjourned without day. Having been sworn, Mr. Sherman will ascend the rostrum and, taking the gavel, will call the senate to order for the new session and will ask that new members of the senate come forward and take the oath of office. Presumably there will be sixteen new faces in the senate. Each new senator, accompanied by his colleague, will step forward and take the oath. This done, the entire assembly will proceed to the inaugural stand.

The sergeants-at-arms of the senate and the house will lead the state procession. This is an innovation, as heretofore it has been led by the marshals of the supreme court and of the District of Columbia. The present in the senate chamber will fall into line in the same order in which they entered the senate, and the entire company will march to the inaugural stand.

The troops gathered in front of the stand will present arms as the president and the president elect enter the main door of the capitol, and when they have arrived at the front of the stand Chief Justice Fuller will step forward and administer to Mr. Taft the oath of office, following which the new president will deliver his inaugural address, which is understood to be unusually brief. From the stand the president will descend a flight of steps to his carriage and drive immediately to the White House, where he may snatch a brief luncheon before taking his place in the stand.

There will be a slight change this year in the order of the progress of the president, the president elect and the vice president and the vice president elect to the capitol. In view of the close relations of Senator Lodge to the president he will ride in the carriage with the president and the president elect, as will also Senator Knox, who as chairman of the committee on arrangements is the personal escort of the executive. The vice president will have as escort Senator Bacon and Representatives Burke and Gaines, while the vice president elect will be accompanied by Senator Frye, the president pro tempore of the senate, and Representative Young. Heretofore only one senator has accompanied the two chief figures in the ceremonies.

Ball a National Function.

Always a pleasing and picturesque feature, it is proposed to make the inaugural ball of 1908 something more—a great national function of supreme interest and significance. It will take the form of a reception by President Taft and Vice President Sherman to the country at large. Each state in the Union will be officially represented on the floor by one of its distinguished sons, whose mission it will be to cooperate initially in the presentation of the visitors from home, there and everywhere to the great men of the nation who will be in attendance.

Charles Blair, whose father, Montgomery Blair, was postmaster general in the cabinet of President Lincoln, is chairman of the committee in charge of the inaugural ball and has planned the event as to bring the entire Union through the forty-six states into direct and active participation in the function.

"Washington is a national city, a city belonging to the country," Chairman Blair said in discussing the ball arrangements. "It is our desire that all who come to the inauguration—and there promises to be the biggest attendance in the history of these affairs—should feel that in coming to the national capital they are coming to their own city."

"The ball will be essentially and distinctly national. A representative from each state has been designated as a member of the inaugural ball committee. These gentlemen will invite the people who come from their respective states and will see that they are properly introduced to the statesmen and their wives and other distinguished visitors. Thus it is hoped to bring the forty-six states into close touch with the national capital on this memorable occasion."

Presidential Inaugurations From Washington to Lincoln

All the Way From "Jeffersonian Simplicity" to the Pomp and State of Modern Times.

DURING the early years of the government, before the capital was moved to Washington, the induction of a president, although a ceremony of great dignity and solemnity, was a very small and select affair.

In New York for nearly a fortnight preceding the great day of April 30, 1789, every tavern and boarding house had been thronged with visitors, and on the day before the inauguration every private house was filled with guests from all parts of the Union.

In the center of the procession, preceded by the senate and followed by representatives, walked George Washington. On reaching Federal hall the troops formed a line on each side of the way, through which the president, with his attendants, was conducted to tol by the militia, and the ceremony took place in the senate chamber, which is now the supreme court room.

As the day for the second inauguration of James Monroe fell on Sunday, the ceremony took place the following day, Monday, March 5.

John Quincy Adams was inaugurated on March 4, 1825, and the day was one of great demonstration and display. President Monroe called at the residence of the president elect, who then resided on F street, opposite the Elkhorn house, and here they were joined by the military escort, and the procession, headed by the cavalry, moved at once to the capitol.

The inauguration of "Old Hickory" took place on March 4, 1829, and was a memorable one. The friends of President John Quincy Adams had tive American citizens inaugurated president, for all the others had been born as British subjects.

A Notable Celebration. The inauguration of "Old Tippecanoe" was one of the greatest events that ever occurred in the national capital. After the furious campaign which preceded his election great crowds gathered in Washington to witness the inauguration.

Exactly one month after this President Harrison died, and on April 6 John Tyler took the oath of office before William Cranch, chief justice of the circuit court of the District of Columbia.

It was a cold, rainy day when President Polk was inaugurated, but there was a long procession of the military as well as civic organizations.

Zachary Taylor had fine weather, unlimited noise and great ceremonies attending his inauguration. At the 4th floor on Sunday, he was inaugurated on Monday.

As President Taylor died on July 9, one year after his inauguration, Vice President Millard Fillmore took the oath of office on July 10 in the house of representatives.

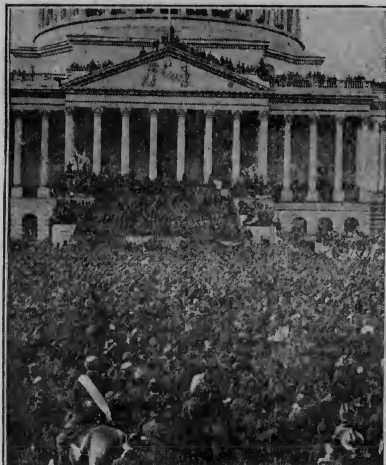

The inauguration of Franklin Pierce was unique in the fact that the vice president elect, William R. King, was not in Washington to be sworn into office. He was in Cuba, and took the oath on the hills above Matanzas at the same time President Elect Pierce was being sworn in in Washington. There was no inaugural ball.

The 4th of March, 1857, was a splendid day, and James Buchanan was inaugurated with much pomp and ceremony. After reaching the White House President Buchanan held a public reception and at night attended the inaugural ball, which was held in a building in Judiciary square erected for that purpose.

The Lincoln Festivities.

Abraham Lincoln had a brief, clear day for his first inauguration, but it rained and the streets were wet and muddy when he took his second oath of office. The martyr president went to the capitol from the White House by way of Indianapolis, Columbus, Cleveland, Pittsburgh and Philadelphia, and although he was given receptions all along the way, with much pomp and ceremony, on account of threatened violence, it was thought best to change the plans, and he proceeded to Philadelphia by a little girl dressed in white. Arriving there at midnight, he entered the New York steamer and passed through Baltimore undisturbed and arrived in Washington at 10:30 a. m. on the morning of Feb. 23. He remained at Willard's hotel until the inauguration day, when President Buchanan called for him and in an open carriage the party proceeded to the capitol. In order to avoid threatened violence the president and president elect in their carriages were preceded by a company of lifeguards, double file of the District cavalry on either side and by infantry and other military organizations following. In the long procession there was a large car or four representing the constitution and the Union, each state being represented by a little girl dressed in white. A battalion of District troops guarded the steps of the capitol. The ceremony of swearing in the vice president in the senate completed, the entire party marched to the east portico of the capitol, where the great scene of swearing in Abraham Lincoln took place.

The civil war was in progress when Mr. Lincoln was inaugurated for the second time. There were evidences of the war everywhere, and gloom and sadness covered the whole land. The president went to the capitol early to sign bills and therefore the parade marched down without him. The procession, however, was noteworthy.

the chamber of the senate, where the representatives had assembled a few minutes before, and at the door the vice president received him and attended him to the hall.

The vice president then said, "Sir, the senate and the house of representatives are ready to attend you to take the oath required by the constitution, which will be administered by the state of New York." The president answered, "I am ready to proceed."

The president and the senators led the way, and followed by the representatives, Washington walked to the outside gallery, overlooking both walls and Broad streets, which were filled with a sea of upturned faces. Washington's first official act was to attend service in old St. Paul's.

The second inauguration of President Washington took place in Independence hall, at Philadelphia, on March 4, 1792.

On March 4, 1797, John Adams was inaugurated president of the United States in the old stables at Philadelphia. Although the day was favorable, there was no parade or gathering of a large assemblage.

Although the generally accepted accounts of Jefferson's inauguration make it appear that he rode to the capitol on horseback without attendance and that the ceremony was of the simplest kind, a newspaper of the day states that "on this day President Elect Jefferson was escorted from his lodgings to the capitol by a body of militia and a procession of citizens." Jefferson's second inauguration on March 5, 1805, was simpler. If possible than his first.

A Ceremonious Occasion.

The inauguration of James Madison was the first ceremony which was made a great occasion. The day was ushered in by a federal salute, and at an early hour the volunteer corps of militia began to assemble. So great was the crowd that the oath of office was administered in the old hall of representatives, now statutory hall, at the capitol. For the first time in the history of inaugurations the various branches of the government were ushered into the hall with ceremonious pomp and parade.

James Madison was inaugurated the second time on March 4, 1813. He had a military escort, and the ceremonies in the house of representatives were similar to those of his first inauguration. In the evening there was an inauguration ball at Davis' hotel, which is now the Metropolitan.

The 4th of March, 1817, was a beautiful day, and there was a large crowd to witness the inauguration ceremonies. The president elect and vice president elect left the private residence of President Monroe, attended by a large cavalcade of citizens on horseback. They were met at the capitol agreed not to participate in the inaugural ceremonies, and the only military escort was the militia of the District of Columbia detailed to offer its escort to the president elect. A company of Revolutionary citizens and soldiers, however, organized and rendered their services to General Jackson as an escort, and he rode to the capitol in an open carriage.

The second inauguration of Andrew Jackson was very simple. There was no military escort, no outward display and no procession.

The 4th of March, 1833, was a beautiful day, and the inauguration ceremonies of Martin Van Buren were elaborate. Although the day was favorable, the crowd in Washington severely taxed the capacity of the city. Van Buren was the first neglected to participate in the inaugural ceremonies, and the only military escort was the militia of the District of Columbia detailed to offer its escort to the president elect. A company of Revolutionary citizens and soldiers, however, organized and rendered their services to General Jackson as an escort, and he rode to the capitol in an open carriage.

R., the United Spanish War Veterans and the Army and Navy union, which will form the escort of honor for President Elect Taft and Vice President Elect Sherman from the White House to the capitol, where they will take the oath of office, preceding the big parade and other features.

Sailors and Marines.

The details of the big military parade have been worked out by Brigadier General John A. Johnson, chief of General Bell's staff, assisted by Major Samuel D. Sturges, adjutant general, both regular army officers on duty at the war department. Here is the inaugural day program in a nutshell as prepared by them:

The morning escort of the president from the White House to the capitol at 10 a. m. by the veteran grand division; the exercises at the capitol on a stand accommodating 7,000 persons, concluding with the administration of the oath of office to the president and his address; the assembly of the military and grand division in the streets south and southeast of the capitol; the division in the streets west and northwest of the capitol; the afternoon escort of the president by the military and civil grand divisions from the capitol to the White House at the conclusion of his inaugural address at about 12:30 p. m.; review of the military and civil grand divisions by the president from his stand in the court of honor in front of the White House from about 3 to 6 in the afternoon and the dismissal of the parade; the display of fireworks from 7:30 to 9 p. m.

In the military division there will be about 3,000 sailors and marines from the battleship fleet, fresh from the cruise around the world; the famous Philippine constabulary band, the midshipmen and cadets from the academies at Annapolis and West Point.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Vienna, Va. — "I feel that I owe the last ten years of my life to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Eleven years ago I was a walking shadow. I had been under the doctor's care but got no relief. My husband persuaded me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it worked like a charm. It relieved all my pains and misery. I advise all suffering women to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound." — MRS. EMMA V. HEXTON, Vienna, Va.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs, contains no narcotics or harmful drugs, and today holds the record for the largest number of actual cures of female diseases of any similar medicine in the country, and thousands of voluntary testimonials are on file in the Pinkham Laboratory at Lynn, Mass., from women who have been cured from almost every form of female complaint, inflammation, ulceration, displacements, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, indigestion and nervous prostration. # EPIDEMIC CATARRH IS CALLED GRIP

A World-Wide Scourge Which Sweeps Over the Land Nearly Every Year.

Who can withstand the dreadful hand of grip that periodically clutches thousands in its remorseless grasp?

Can any one hide from its terror?

Can any one afford to ignore its consequences?

A remedy to allay its ferocity during its attack.

A remedy to mitigate damages to the system.

Can anything more be done?

Is not Peruna, the renowned catarrh medicine, such a remedy?

Many thousands of people think so.

Grip Entirely Relieved.

Rev. George A. E. Trontman, M.A. Washington, Mo., writes: "My wife and I are strong believers in Peruna. I was cured of a bad case of catarrh when nothing else that I tried had any effect. My wife was cured from a severe case of grippe, and we feel that the least we can do is to gratefully acknowledge the merit of Peruna."

"My wife joins me in sending best wishes for your success."

Grip With Other Symptoms.

Mr. E. B. Shiegnitz, Napa, Texas, writes: "I take pleasure in testifying that Peruna quickly helped me in a severe attack of the grip, accompanied by pain in the kidneys."

"I often joked about the Peruna and called it 'good stuff,' but I have now learned that it is a good medicine."

A Tonic After La Grippe.

Mrs. Charles E. Wells, Sr., South St., Delaware, Ohio, writes: "After a severe attack of grippe I took Peruna and found it a very good tonic."

years and we knew he was doomed, but when the test came to give him up his friends were not ready. He was a model son, a loving brother and a kind friend. We wish there were more like him. He leaves a father, mother, one sister and three brothers. They all have the sympathy of their many friends.

After Effects of Grip.

Mr. K. Esveld, Company "H," 21st Michigan V. I., 30 Hermitage St., Grand Rapids, Mich., writes:

"I felt with advancing years that my vigor failed me and fear of poisoning my system with noxious medicines prevented my taking anything for it until noting the effect Peruna had on several of my comrades I made up my mind it would be good for me."

"I suffered for years from effects of the la grippe, which seemed to settle in my stomach and kidneys."

"Five bottles of Peruna made a new man of me. I wish that I had known of Peruna years ago, and then it would have saved me much suffering."

Nasal Catarrh and Grip.

Mrs. J. B. Allen, Petoskey, Mich., writes: "Both my husband and myself were seriously ill with la grippe."

"One day I saw an advertisement of Peruna in a paper and asked him to get me a bottle. He had no faith in it, but got the medicine. I took it and immediately began to improve."

is very slight chance of his recovery.

Friends of Mr. Mack Meador sympathize with him over the death of his wife, who was taken from him a few weeks ago. They had only been married a few years and were so happy and contented. It is sad to witness the breaking up of a happy home

"For a long time I could not persuade him to take it, but finally he began to take Peruna too, and he now is as enthusiastic in its praise as I am."

"Peruna also cured my husband of obstinate nasal catarrh, of twenty-five years' standing."

Mrs. Gentry (ates, East Lake, Ala., writes: "I had a bad case of la grippe. I tried several kinds of medicine, but could get no relief."

"I tried Peruna and it cured me. I can safely say that it is a fine medicine. I have used it in our family often and it is to be good."

Systemic Catarrh Follows Grip.

Mrs. Jennie W. Cecil, Big Cabin, Indian Territory, formerly housekeeper for Indiana Reform School for Boys, writes:

"Six years ago I had la grippe, which was followed by systemic catarrh. The only thing I used was Peruna and Manlylin, and I have been in better health the last three years than for years before."

"I give Peruna all the credit for my good health."

John Cooke is in the timber business again. Jim Mitchell sold him a nice lot of off his farm recently.

Roscoe Lyon, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Lyon, was buried at the Good Hope burying ground the eleventh of February. He had been effected with that dread disease, consumption, for several
